AmarasApps

The definitive identity for the studio — palette, logo, typography and the system that lets every product stand on its own.

The identity, in one page

SUMMARY

AmarasApps is a category-agnostic software studio. Its brand is deliberately not tied to finance or to any single product. Sparepay is the first product and keeps its own navy+gold identity — linked to the studio only by a shared system and a small “by AmarasApps” endorsement.

PERSONALITY

Modern & trustworthy. Expressive where it earns attention, grounded everywhere trust is built.

PALETTE

Aurora, violet-anchored. Spectrum in the mark/hero/sub-brands; deep violet + neutrals for all UI.

MARK

Prism — a faceted “A” refracting the spectrum. One studio → many products.

TYPOGRAPHY

SF Pro Rounded 800 wordmark, two-tone “Amaras-Apps”. SF Pro body. SF Mono numerals.

SUB-BRANDS

Each product = the Prism refracting one reserved hue. Sparepay = gold.

MOTION

Rich but optional — all gated behind prefers-reduced-motion.

This document supersedes the three exploratory folios (Brand-Folio, Proposal-2, Proposal-3) which remain in /brand as history. Tokens here are mirrored in BRAND.md and assets/css/site.css.

The Prism mark

LOGO

Gradient is the primary finish (everywhere, all sizes). Liquid-glass is the app-icon & hero variant. Flat violet + mono knockouts cover single-colour, print and endorsement use.

USAGE SCENARIOS

RULES

- Clear space $\geq 25\%$ of mark height.
- Min size 16px (favicon) — split reads via opacity.
- On light grounds keep the tile's dark interior; never place bright facets directly on white.
- Endorsement uses the mono mark, always subordinate to the product wordmark.

PALETTE

Deep aubergine canvas, near-white text, deep-violet UI. The bright spectrum appears only in the mark, one hero gradient, and product accents.

The rule (measured): bright hues pass AAA as glow/fill-with-dark-text on dark, but FAIL as white-text button fills and as coloured text on white. Buttons on light use #6D28D9; body text always on neutrals; bright accents only as border/glow/dark-ink fill.

The sub-brand system

PRODUCTS

Studio owns the full spectrum; each product is the same Prism refracting one reserved hue. Violet/magenta stays with the studio so the parent reads distinct from its children.

Sparepay | by  AmarasApps

on dark – shared chrome

Sparepay keeps its own navy+gold on its pages; the AmarasApps mark appears there only as this small endorsement.

Applied — the site

IN USE

The identity as the studio site will use it: dark aubergine hero → light body → dark footer. This is the demonstration the build follows.

Next: this becomes `index.html` with rich, reduced-motion-gated scroll animation. Sparepay's own pages use its navy+gold, not this palette.
